During the first half of September 1951 the Central and South China Military Area sent over 1,800 low-ranking military cadre personnel to Nanning to assist the militia training program of the Kwangsi Military District and to improve qualifications of Kwangsi militiamen. Over 1,300 of these cadre personnel were corporals and sergeants; the remainder were company and platoon grade of Micers. On 14 September they arrived in Nanning via the Runan-Kwangsi railroad. As of 24 September they were quartered at the old site (sic) of the Nanning Military College and were awaiting assignment.
